Social media and sharing rules

1. Empower survivors, don't educate abusers

In some of the sessions we'll be talking about very specific ways abusers misuse technology to stalk, harass, and abuse. Please do NOT share this content on social media or elsewhere online.

You can talk about how survivors can strategise safely and raise awareness about the issue, but please don't give abusers ideas or methods to misuse technology.

2. Get consent before you share

Before you share what someone said or take a photo of someone, please ask permission. To make it easier, we're asking delegates to wear a red, orange or green lanyard to show if they're willing to be photographed. If someone isn't wearing a lanyard, just ask. If you need a lanyard, please pick one up from registration.

RED:

No photos or videos

ORANGE:

Ask permission first

GREEN:

Go for it! I will strike a pose!

We are committed to respecting your privacy, which means if there is any official press, filming, or photography, we will let you know. We will make sure there is space for those who do not want to be filmed or photographed. We will try to give as much notice and transparency, but in case you miss it, don't hesitate to ask.
